

PICK A STATE

In Nancy Clancy, Star of Stage and Screen, Mr. Dudeney assigns each member of the class a different state to study. Nancy is given Wisconsin, and learns that the capital is Madison, and the city of Green Bay is known as the Toilet Paper Capital of the World!

Now it's your turn: Pick a state you're interested in learning about, draw an outline of the state in the blank space below (using a map as your guide), and mark the capital with a fancy star. Then find and include a fun fact about the state.

State: _____

Capital: _____

Fun Fact: _____

EXAMPLE:

State: Hawaii

Capital: Honolulu

Fun Fact: There's a post office in Hawaii that gives people decorated coconuts instead of postcards to mail to friends and family back home.
